Distressed

Inherent in hides:

- Natural Markings
- Fat Wrinkles
- Healed Scars

Leather has always been the ultimate mood – tough yet timeless, a vibe that screams “Better as Friends” and “Not Yours.” After a little Retail Therapy and a New Hair Who Dis moment, you realize you deserve better – it’s you NOT me. Once your heart shattered and they say Love you NoT, you ghosted your way through a sea of sorrows, telling them to cry me a river. Now it’s all thank U next energy, Party of one Please. You’ve seen the Grass is Greener on the side where confidence shines; they Won’t be mine, and that’s fine. Don’t wait up – I’m on and ice cream bender, rocking leather boots in my rebellious rebound era. Maybe it’s a little to late, but I can still buy myself flowers – because nothing says strength like leather and self-love. Break Up is an aniline dyed leather that is oiled/waxed for a distressed look. A protective clear coat tops off this beautiful distressed leather which adds sheen and durability. Each hide is unique, and differences in dye absorption can result in color variations from hide to hide, as well as between full hides and the swatches we provide. Appreciate characteristics such as scars, belly wrinkles, scratch marks, and insect bites, which are signatures only genuine leather can exhibit.
